

1898 NCR Catalogue
Section on Combined desk and Manifolding Autographic
Registers
Originally priced from $10 to $40

Ed- Because there is only one model of the combined autographic I would guess it is rare, but because it would be hard to tell from the plain autographics it would most likely command the same value. This is only moderately collectable because it is not very exciting or rare. Finding one complete or with original paper in it increases value. It has an inkwell and these can be rare to find with the glass still in them. Ballpark value is around $500

No. 205 Desk and Manifolding Autographic Register.

Dimensions: 17 1/2 inches wide, 19 inches deep, 12 1/4 inches high.

This register has the same style and finish as the high-grade desk autographic registers. The cash-drawer is operated in the same manner as those of that class. In addition it has an attachment which issues an original and duplicate slip, just as does the manifolding register. These slips may be used for "Charge," "Received on Account," "Paid Out" and other special transactions.
